ABOUT YOUR NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS.

The New Year will soon be ushered into existence by Time's fleeting pinions. As the old year expires amid the soner-may set sweet and nusted lones of a thousand bells to ethoughtful mind will some imos pause even in such a season of and bliarity to take a brief retrospect, and consider the errors of the rest and form good resolutions for the future. In doing this we wish to say to those of the custle who have listened to the stem song of the chap tailor or clothier and find themselves today with a shoddy suit, to think for a moment and resolve that hereafter they will pursue a more sensible and profitable course by patronizing a tailor of merit, whose pardonable pride in a long-established reputation founded on eminent superiorly in fit, workmanship and fabric, coupled with upright dealing and courteous treatment, will not permit him to im one on you. You could not make a more profitable business resolve, and the New Year—one year hence—will see you a happier and wiser man.

On such occasions they usually reappear to the troops shortly afterward in the innocent guise of cowboys and ranchers. Then, unless the civil authorities identified them as revolutionists or as persons who had violated the neutrality laws, the troops could do nothing with them. Gen. Schofield said he thought there were no guerillas on the American shore of the Rio Grande, and that the people who are making all the trouble in that vicinity dwell or roam almost entirely on the other side.

Capt. John G. Bourke, third cavalry, who has been stationed at Ban Antonio, Tex., for several months past, arrived in the city today, in response to a summons to consult with Secretary Elkins and Gen. Those Who Are Prophesying Find It Diffi-

There is a strong beitef, however, that Col. Lamont has been selected for that place and that Herbert may have something else. Mr. Herbert's friends say that they do not think that there is any other place in the cabinet he would care for. They say that he would not accept a place in the cabinet at all if offered, except for the the cabinet at all if offered, except for the reason that he takes a great interest in the navy and believes that there is a great deal that a Secretary can do to improve the service. He has a great opportunity for making money in his profession, they say, and if he does not become Secretary of the Navy he will enter as a partner in one of the best law firms of the south.

THE SOUTH MAY GET THREE PLACES. The selection of Carlisle as Secretary of the reached the slip. Treasury is looked upon as settled and is gencrally very warmly approved of. Collins as Secretary of War would meet with general approval among democrats, but it is likely that he might not accept anything but the attorney generalship. Concerning this place, however, there is a growing belief that it will go to Dickinson, in spite of the fact that he has declared that he does not want to go into the cabinet. It is believed that he would accept the attorney generalship and that Cleveland will be apt to insist upon his taking it. It is believed that not less than two cabinet places, and inall probability three, will go to the south.

The uncertainty as to morrison. There is a very strong difference of opinion about the selection of Morrison for a place in the cabinet, both as to the possibility of his getting the offer and as to the advisability of his selection. There is always a Morrison and anti-Morrison faction in lilinois, and though it is understood that the antis would not dare make an open fight against Morrison if his selection were probable, they would not like it. Outside the state it is a good deal the same way. There is a throng of earnest Morrison admirers who would be delighted at his going into the cabinet, but there are others who would not like it much.
